

SUSTAINABILITY: LAND, OCEAN AND YOU

a new 3-credit course ... summer 2009

inspiration
REINVENT art
intuition society
strategic ideas peace
engage change
COMMUNITY
possibilities

This 3-credit course (GS3088; class #2168; section N60) is offered through the Center for Continuing Studies at the University of Connecticut-Avery Point campus. Non-degree students and seniors (62+) may audit this course on a space-available basis for personal or professional development (fees vary).

Where: University of Connecticut-Avery Point

When: Summer Session I ... June 1 to July 10, 2009
Mondays/Wednesdays, 6:00 to 9:15 p.m.

Who: Taught by Dr. Phoebe Godfrey

Info: Katie, 860-486-0358

www.CreativeCommunityBuilding.org

University of Connecticut

Do you want to ...

Understand sustainability in relation to land, oceans and you?

Gain insight into the structural issues causing climate change?

Recognize your own personal impact on climate change?

Discover ways to imagine and promote sustainable communities?

Transform aspects of your lifestyle to reduce your carbon footprint?

Then this summer class ...
on Long Island Sound ... is for you!

CREATIVITY. COLLABORATION. DEMOCRACY.

Come and explore, integrate and expand your understanding of Creative Community Building.